IMMEDIATE RELEASE

December 29, 2016

In anticipation of the forthcoming challenges that non-citizen residents of the United States will face, the attorneys at SSH are proud to welcome Attorney Wycuie Bouknight former Assistant Chief Counsel for the Department of Homeland Security, to address the needs of all non-citizens in the area of Immigration Law.

Attorney Wycuie Bouknight has been practicing Immigration Law exclusively for 15 years. In that time he has spent close to a decade working for the United States Government as Assistant District Counsel for the Immigration and Naturalization Service and then, as Assistant Chief Counsel for the Department of Homeland Security's Immigration and Customs Enforcement Office. His successes in the immigration courts are innumerable. He has successfully handled cases ranging from asylum, adjustment of status, cancellation of removal, I-751, waivers, criminal immigration, removal hearings before an Immigration Judge, and appeals before the Board of Immigration Appeals.

Wycuie Bouknight started his law practice for the purpose of helping people around the world have access to a better life in the United States, and assisting those people in the United States stay and continue to have a good life.
